The Family Chocolate Shoppe - Confectioner Bruce Fowler

While a fourth generation chocolatier no longer hangs his name on his business, there is no doubt that The Family Chocolate Shoppe still produces the finest chocolate available in Western New York.

Mild-mannered, delightfully funny Bruce Fowler can educate you on the health benefits of chocolate. Some dark chocolates are being touted as the new red wine. Hmmmm..... But, seriously, there is no better way to say thank you than with chocolate. Family Chocolate Shoppe can show you some very interesting ways for businesses to say thank you to customers for their business. The personalized mugs filled with chocolate being used by some of their customers are an outstanding way to let your customers know that you care. We all know that doing business today means relationship building, and what better way than by doing what one local realtor is doing by putting a picture of a person's house on the cover of a one pound bar of chocolate!

Chocolate is used traditionally for weddings, graduations, holidays and the like and we don't want to overlook the many wonderfully unique items that are available at The Family Chocolate Shoppe. Chocolate laced popcorn, White chocolate roses, Sponge Candy, traditional boxed chocolates, Valentine tie boxes and a bustier to complement, luscious Truffles to chocolate wrenches are just some of the fabulous array of goodies that can be found on the website at www.familychocolateshop.com

Bruce can handle your entire order starting from your order online, via fax or phone and see it through right to delivery to your designee. Personal service is what The Family Chocolate Shoppe offers and what makes it heads above the competition. Need some suggestions? Bruce and his staff (mostly family) can help. There's never a bad time for chocolate so the next time you want or need to say thank you, I'm sorry, I love you, good job, or just want to treat yourself – think The Family Chocolate Shoppe.
